

As far back as Robin Garvey can recall, art and design have always held prominent positions in her life and her heart, making her eventual pursuit of an education in interior design a natural progression.

“I’ve always been very arts-oriented,” Robin says. “As a teenager, I was always rearranging furniture, painting, decorating... it was always a part of my life.”

Her love of arts and creativity led Robin to Ryerson University’s four-year interior design degree program and, ultimately, to Oakville Kitchen & Bath Centre as a designer. In business since 1962, Oakville Kitchen & Bath Centre is a full renovation company, taking homeowners’ visions and turning them into a reality. When the opportunity to purchase the business came up, Robin grabbed it.

“Everything just fell into place,” explains Robin. “I grew up here; we live in Oakville, raise our kids here and are very much a part of the community. It just made sense to seize the opportunity to own a business in our community.”

Oakville Kitchen & Bath Centre takes your home renovation project from start to finish. With a staff of experienced designers and tradespeople, everything is handled in-house.

“We design, supply and install for our clients,” Robin says. “They don’t have to go anywhere else to find the professionals they need – we’ve got it all.”

The team at Oakville Kitchen & Bath Centre can also work on smaller projects, as simple as supplying and installing cabinetry. Working with three different Canadian manufacturers allows for the ability to meet anyone’s budget and provide a variety of finishes and styles.

“Most of our business is referral-based and we often hear from many of our clients that they’re thrilled with the customer service they get,” says Robin. “Even if they call five years after the project has been completed, we’re still going to be there to help them.”

A strong attention to detail and careful consideration add to Oakville Kitchen & Bath Centre’s superior customer service, as well as a conscientious team of tradespeople that understand they are working in someone’s house and not on a construction site.

“We also place a lot of emphasis on communication,” Robin says. “We’re in contact with our clients on a daily basis, updating them on the progress of the project.”

Ultimately, what drives the Oakville Kitchen & Bath Centre team is their collective goal of helping homeowners take their vision and making it a reality.

“Helping a family turn their house into a home is so rewarding and we truly enjoy being a part of that,” says Robin.
